

COLORADO TAX HANDBOOK

Report to the Colorado General Assembly

A Brief Summary of State Taxes in Colorado

*Colorado Legislative Council
Research Publication No.536
January 2005*

Foreword

This booklet provides a brief summary of Colorado's tax system. Information is provided on total state taxes and on each tax levied by the state. Comparisons with other states are provided for Colorado's major tax sources. When applicable, federal tax rates are also provided.

Revenues collected from a variety of sources, such as license and registration fees, permit fees, fines, court costs, interest earnings, Medicaid transfers, and the Colorado Lottery, are excluded from this report.

The 2004 version of the Colorado Tax Handbook differs from the 2002 edition. TABOR refund mechanisms that modify federal taxable income, provide state income tax credits, or reduce fees or sales taxes are omitted because the most recent economic forecast by Legislative Council Staff indicates that taxpayers cannot file for most of these benefits until Calendar Year 2007.

Information on "Checkoff Colorado" is added. This program allows taxpayers to make voluntary contributions to designated programs when filing state income tax returns. In addition, two new sections are included. One section provides a brief glimpse of the state property tax relief programs available to senior citizens and the disabled. Frequent inquiries led to the addition of this section. Another section was added to provide at-a-glance information for some of the more commonly asked questions about Colorado's state taxes.

State tax collection data are from the state Controller's Office and the Department of Revenue. The state-by-state rankings are based on tax collections per $1,000 of personal income using data from the U.S. Census Bureau for FY 2003-04. This statistic is used because it provides a more accurate measure of the ability of taxpayers to pay taxes than a per capita measure. Finally, federal tax information in this publication is from the Internal Revenue Code.

The 2004 Colorado Tax Handbook was prepared by Jason Schrock and Ron Kirk of the Legislative Council Staff. Questions or comments about the content of this report may be directed to (303) 866-3521. State Property Tax Relief Programs

There are three state programs that either reduce or defer payment of property taxes for qualifying senior citizens. One of the three programs also benefits disabled persons.

Property Tax/Rent and Heat/Fuel Grant Program. This program is administered by the Department of Revenue and rebates property taxes or rent and heating expenses paid by qualifying low-income senior and disabled persons.

Available to: Colorado residents age 65 or older or a surviving spouse at least age 58 by December 31 of the year the grant is claimed; Colorado residents who are disabled for the entire year for which the grant is claimed. Grants are phased out when income for single filers exceeds $11,000 or income for married filers exceeds $14,700.

Qualifying persons must file: Form 104 PTC with the Department of Revenue each year the grant is claimed.

Program allows: up to $600 for property taxes paid or 20 percent of actual rent paid and $192 for heat/fuel expenses actually paid.

Property Tax Deferral Program. This program allows seniors to annually defer payment of property taxes on their personal residence and is administered by the Department of Treasury.

Available to: Colorado residents age 65 or older or a surviving spouse at least age 60 by January 1 of the year the deferral is claimed.

Qualifying persons must file: An application with the county treasurer each year property taxes are deferred.

Program allows: Filers to defer or postpone the payment of their property taxes and special assessments on their residence, townhouse, condominium, or mobile home. In general, the amount deferred, plus interest, is due after the property is sold or the mortgage changes hands.

Colorado's Homestead Exemption. This program exempts a portion of the taxable value of a home for seniors who have owned and occupied their home for the preceding ten years. This program is administered by the Division of Property Taxation. The General Assembly temporarily suspended the program for the 2003 through 2005 property tax years. The exemption is scheduled to be reinstated in property tax year 2006.

Available to: Colorado residents age 65 or older by January 1 of the year the exemption is claimed. There is no age requirement for an unmarried surviving spouse of a previously qualified individual.

Qualifying persons must file: An application with the county assessor by July 15 the first year the exemption is claimed.

Program allows: Filers to exempt up to one-half of the first $200,000 of a home's value from property taxation.
